Many businesses in Sonoma County are dependent upon the Russian River. This most precious natural resource is truly the life blood of our community, supplying water for drinking, agriculture, industry and recreation.

On September 27 and 28, 2008, the Russian River Watershed Cleanup Committee will host the 21st annual Russian River Watershed Cleanup. Over the years, this project has grown to include more volunteers and sponsors. This year volunteers will clean beaches and the river from Asti to Guerneville and will involve more than 300 participants and many supporting organizations. Once again volunteers will remove tons of debris, trash, tires, shopping carts and water heaters from the Russian River.

The Sonoma County community has responded with contributions of money, materials and machinery. Local government, public utilities, waste management services, recreational organizations and leading businesses have all come together to support the idea of a healthy river. Sponsors have included the Sonoma County Water Agency, North Bay Corporation (formerly Waste Management), PG&E, Brelje & Race Consulting Engineers, River's Edge, SOARS Inflatables, Burkes Canoes and other organizations and individuals. Organizing and executing the tasks for this project requires the support of the whole community.

Please support this project with your company's donation of

Please make checks payable to Sonoma County Conservation Council (SCCC), a 501c3 non-profit corporation, and mail them to the address above.

Your contribution will offset our expenses and will make it possible for us to provide incentives such as T-shirts to participants in the Clean-Up. We will recognize every contributor. Businesses contributing $250 or more will have their names printed on our "Clean Team" T-shirts. The larger the donation, the larger we will print the name of your business. Services or non-cash donations will be recognized in the same way.

Thank you for your commitment to keeping the Russian River healthy in Sonoma County and sharing in this important community activity. Our children's environmental legacy and the beauty of our environment will be sustained through conscientious stewardship.
